The girl I love so much just walked in the door
My past is present but she's not mine anymore Did she stop by to hurt me or does she even know I'm here
My past is present, could it be that she still cares

For without her there's no future, she's close yet far
I keep hoping that my tomorrows will catch up with yesterday
went away
My past is present, I just hope she's back to stay

went away
My past is present, I just hope she's back to stay
