TRAVELIN' BLUES

I had a dream last night I thought my good gal had gone
I woke up this morning she had really done me wrong
I know it's not fair but my good gal has done caught air
My gal's been trifling around just about a week I know Several of my good friends just told me so and so She's found a new man and now I can understand I'm going away leaving today I'm gonna bring my baby back
If that eight wheel driver don't jump the railroad track I'll take her from that man I'm gonna bring her home if I can It's true my baby's gone I know it won't be long We'll both be on that train my baby's coming home again
She's been trifling around but now she has thrown him down
I'm going away leaving today...
