

Merle Haggard

"Worst Is Yet To Come"

Visit "Worst Is Yet To Come" on MotoLyrics.com

(Liz Anderson)

Such a little time has passed since you went away
Where are all these heartaches coming from
I can hardly stand the pain of missing you today
And I know the worst is yet to come.

If there was something I could find to drive these tears
from me
Then I'd go right out and get me one
I've already cried enough to fill the big blue sea
And I know the worst is yet to come.

--- Instrumental ---

There'll be all those sleepless nights when I'll just lay and cry
And the hours seem to have no end
There'll be days when it won't matter if I live or die
Wishing I could have you back again.

If there was something I could find to drive these tears
from me
Then I'd go right out and get me one
I've already cried enough to fill the big blue sea
And I know the worst is yet to come...

Visit Merle Haggard page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.