The world has come to end
The devil is on his own
By that which has been made
This earth will be laid to waste
The presence of the one
Not felt but known
By the end of time
Long gone are what we feel

Who's the one to take blame
Into nothingness come
Reason to great suffering

The flames are burning bright
It calls for demise
It has come to bless the devils work
The plague which man breeds
No gods to lead you through
To another world promised for you
In this time to come
Long gone are the love of gods

A worlds demise, the crack of dawn
As it has come to end
A worlds demise, heaven falls down
As it has come to end

Beneath a darkened sky
A heaven black despises man
