There is no reason to lie to me, you lied right to my face
You couldn't hold it back and tell me the truth Now see how selfish you really are What did you think, I would say?
Did you really think it would make things go away?
You hid this from me how you had chosen Did this bond mean anything to you, obviously not?
You spit it back into my face
It is over, dead and buried, now face the cold truth
today
It sure is cold when you're alone
Now I smile back at your, how does it feel? Someone finally put in your place, maybe now you will change...
