Life... must have been hard on you,
There must have been something... that you never said.

I was blind... seeing what I wanted to,
Believing so much in you... certain in my head.

But you...
You were my world.
Now yer telling me I mean nothing in your life,
And you say you never meant to hurt me
But every words a lie.

Love... it was so new to me.
I was lost in a place... that I didn't know,
You were cold... using me endlessly
Just giving enough to me... then you decided to go.

But you... you were my world,
How I trusted you and then you hung me out to dry,
And I can't believe that you still deny it,
I don't understand why you can't say it.

There was a time in my foolish mind that I'd have died
for you.
I'd have thrown everything I owned away.
Now what I want cuz the feelings have gone is a sign
from you,
To hear you say,
Why can't you say you never loved me.

Cos you you were my world.
Now yer telling me I mean nothing in your life,
And you say you never meant to hurt me,
But every words a lie.

How I trusted you and then you hung me out to dry,
And I can't believe you still deny it.
Cos every words a lie.
Every words a lie.
