"Keep You Happy"

The sky is turning and longing for something far away.
The moon's a tear drop, see slowly as it falls away.
Miles running down a face,
Everything's bound to change,
It's bound to change.

Day breaks of tenderness,
So hold me here like this,
So still and quiet as if it might
Keep you happy.

A feeling has me and tells me it will never stay.
Your heart beats miles now, I feel them as they fly away.
Close gets so far away,
Close gets so far.
Day breaks of loneliness.
I'd weather all of this
If I could find a place where I'd
Keep you happy.

Why do we pretend there is something to hold onto?
See how my world fell in, I was trying to hold you, I was just trying to hold you.

Night is a gypsy who tells me he will never stay.
Miles are like heart beats, I know them as they fly away.
See how they fly away,
See how they fly.
