Darkness has found it's way
Through the passage of time
Soon the night will fall
Lights fade away

A night covered with hope is interrupted
Guarded by the stillness of the night
She still hopes for resurrection
Forgetting the mighty powers of her dreams

For nights she's being dragged into profound worlds
Worlds filled with denying tears
Together in battle with the weakened hope
She conquers her uncoped past

Sweet little girl, don't hold on to the night
Hold on to the shadow of the future
Hold on to the intransparent light
And the silence of your tears

Let me be your unconscious mind
Open your eyes and walk the path
That leads you to the past and see

The future will be your saviour
Push away the burden that haunts you
Banish your tears and
Enter a world of hope and joy

Let me be your unconscious mind
Open your eyes and walk the path
That leads you to the past and see

Love and joy are weak without grief
Do not forget the pain
But caress it as a token of your life

Go... Go away...
Let me take you to the dark womb

For nights she's being dragged into profound worlds
Worlds filled with denying tears

Together in battle with the weakened hope
She conquers her uncoped past

For nights she's wandered
Through valleys of pain
She hopes but in the end
Eternity... Forever...
