Rise over world
Ancient shade
Essence of air, water, fire, and earth,
Ruler of life, emperor of death.

"Darken are your arts and knowledge you offer,
You teach us how to be warriors
In the wild life ways,
The ways of non mercy
The ways which cover the night mystical veil".

... I have seen from my lonely cave,
Thy neverending wisdom reign,
I have rise screaming my hands,
Summoning thee
Under a frozen moon night.

I proclaim you my lord Satan...
Totally your
Is this endless cosmos which surround me,
In which for ages of silence
The universal concient has been sleep.

Wake in me thy wild voice,
And from the deep of the valley of non return,
Come strong as the wind comes!

Through the drifting storm,
Just your brave ravens fly.
In this midnight storm
I wait my last fight.
While thy kingdom comes,
Your fire grows inside.
In a spelling silence I summon thee.
