Hello again, do you know who I am?
It's so nice to hear your voice again
Cause I've been looking in the mirror lately
And I still think that I'm torn in a million pieces

It's hard to say if it's give or if it's take
But I know it's only seeing

And what do I see, please tell me
The dark is overwhelming
But when I close my eyes, I see paradise

And my eyes are blinding me

I used to think that I would sail the seven seas
And take a break from this reality
Then again when reality's hardly a reality
It's hard to see when you're dreaming

And what do I see, please tell me
The dark is overwhelming
But when I close my eyes, I see paradise
And my eyes are blinding me
