

Thy Serpent

"A Demon Bloodbath"

They'll rise from the grave
And devour the innocent
The living dead walk free
This is the beginning

They scream in pain open sores that will never heal
The feast begins on the souls of the humans
The souls of man have reached their bitter end
They will suffer for so long.

The living dead have come to take me away
But I am prepared cause my path is already chosen.

A putrid stench of living death has filled the air
The kings of torment are swarming everywhere
I feel a flame boil up into my soul
Unleash the sword for it's the one thing that will save you

The living dead have come to take me away
But I am prepared cause my path is already chosen.

The screams will never die
Were bathing in their blood.
