And I could tell the world,
But I don't think that they'd understand
How seven crazy kids
Traded all they had for a tour van
And made their way across the country,
Leaving everything behind
And I don't think that they would understand

And I could tell the world
And only hope that they'd agree
That there's more to this than everything
That they've taught you to believe
This is all we wanted
But they gave us so much more...
A home 3, 000 miles away from home

Yeah!

Oh!
