Vain hope darkens every sense eclipse - wielding the shadow inside forced to be at one with the going down of the sun In a dream bring into being the truth make-believe humanity a mind behind closed doors

Wielding the shadow (repeat)

Whatever came to pass now gone never again to see the light this is the end of all we thought would last forever and ever Yet with the stains now all withdrawn into the blind forgiving night the memories of what is yet to be no more there forever

Going through changes to escape a world - mirroring only defeat torn between realities a life so very empty
In a daze slowly beginning the long journey back to sanity the fight against the self
