I

I - this fractal illusion burning away all structure toward the obscene

I - to cleanse, to purge, to breach eternity and smother all life

Blind - these mortal men of clay, divine and dying in their harnessed form

I - this furnace of limitless hate. Bestial, pure

The pendulum swings semi-attached to the centre of all

I drug these minds into ruin and contempt - the acid smoke of burning souls

This is an anomaly. Disabled. What is true?

Not destined for incarceration. I crave my nothingness

This illness that they whisper of, is that what makes me fail?

I see through the eyes of the blind

Not clear what it is to be this self I dread, the immense, the rabid I am

The cogs turn, grinding away at ceaselessness - willing it to dust

Re-desintegration. Convulse. A dead universe - Impales this twilight

Fear aligns. Sadistic me. Meant to devour. Despair

Sickened by the fact that immortality is not mine to have

A snail along a straight razor - dividing itself through motion

I charge this feeble product of god

Laughing, drenched in the bile of millions

Chewing on the stinking flesh of the crown of creation

Solitude in splendor has been rivalled

Shrouds stained with tarblack vomit

Veiling the rotting eyes of the masses

The strain of armageddon evolves

Shifting through worlds from chaos, to chaos, to chaos

I devour this manure of existence - infertile, barren, whole Rancid redeemer. Virulent deterioration of faith

Sacrilege in persona. In truth, fundamentally twisted
A witness to this savage carnage. A frenzy of animosity The will to mutilate. Dominant deviation
The worship of the sick and degenerate will spread

Conception derived from misconceptions
The dimensionless features of truth
Silence in the core of undoing Untie its knots and set it loose

The inertia of my existence is clear Permutations of slaughtered worlds
I alone will behold the dying sky
A servant of eternity

Progress finally, emergence of doom complete Here only to reverse the flow of life
