THE HUMAN FACTOR---METAL CHURCH

I just can't believe my ears some music out these days, the human factor has diminished in oh so many ways, fancy footwork gets top bill and I'll put on such a show

One more Midi cable and my band is ready to go

One more moneymaker and I'm set for life stealing from others will make my future bright

Chorus: One, make some money; two, overexpose

Sincerity is felt much more when the human factor shows

I just need a sample cause no one says it's wrong,

It's so easy to rip-off using someone else's songs

Everybody wants to be a star in modern days, but if I don't have talent then I'll just get buy this way

Changing programs faster than I dare to say musicians all make mistakes who needs them anyway?

Chorus

I just heard a song today I think I'll use a part, incorporate it my own way and that is just the start

I'll change the lyrics that they wrote to satisfy my needs

I wrote the book. Two easy steps. "How to succeed."

Chorus
