Lines are faded, no longer separated, I said
Lines are faded, no longer separated

The lines that were drawn, between right and wrong
Once there was something, now they are gone
People are staring, looking for the prophets
The hope that they seek, have they already lost it?
And dragging their feet on the concrete path
Stuck in their thoughts, they keep looking at the past
Mr. One thought man, try to understand
You better change now while you still can

Lines are faded, no longer separated, I said
Lines are faded, no longer separated

So I stand up, look into the sky
Amidst this world that is covered in lies
Censored and distraught, who would've thought?
They would even censor the things we were taught
Who is right? Who is wrong? It's a thin line as we move on
I close my eyes, I hold my breath
Then I wake up, is there nothing left?

Lines are faded, no longer separated, I said
Lines are faded, no longer separated
They're gone, they're gone, they're gone
