I'm not trying to be nosey
But there's a side of me
That wants to get in your business
And I hope that you understand
That this is a helping hand
Not another hand against
And I've learned to listen
When you vent about things
I don't want to seem awkward
You want to talk to
These ears will always be here
And I hope that I don't come off
Like such a know-it-all
Only you know what's going on
And I've learned to listen
When you vent about things
And it hurts when you push me away
But I won't leave
You want the easy way out
I try to calm you down
I wonder to myself how did you get here
You play the scissor fiddle and know the Songs too well
I'm just trying to help you through this time
We'll make it through this we're gonna make
It through this together
