Don't think instead don't make me say it Do you mind?
Hoping instead hoping you find someone you like touching instead of taking the time to make it right lusting instead of loving And still you call nothing good will come of this With an urge your selfishness don't be ashamed don't be the same don't mean to pry so the ashamed cope with the fate not knowing why Running ashamed something is seen that makes you run only ashamed of running And still you call nothing good will come of this With an urge your selfishness looking passed the obvious With an urge you're curious can't stand holding on can't stand holding on sinking passed sincerity we were thinner mind can't handle your thicker mold you better than.. how can he hold you with no arms, how can he stand with no legs how can he feel you with no heart, how can he stop you with no wrongs Now your lifes on the rocks and Ive got no loyalties Something is gladly eating me and still you call with an urge still you call with an urge you're curious don't think instead don't make me say it Do you mind? Hoping instead hoping you find someone you like touching instead of taking the time to make it right f*cking instead of loving Instead of holding you tight.
