I could think of 60 million things for you too say
To pick me up when sky's growing gray
And all you do is give yourself to me
Hold on I know it sounds like a cliché

But don't you just take my view Moonchild stay wild and try to open up those blue eyes and stay right here
I'm caught in the middle of fear

And all around me walls come tumbling down Just recently I found a crack in my disguise and don't you just take my view

Sweet Moonchild stay wild and try to open up
those blue eyes and stay right here

What becomes of those brokenhearted fools who claim that love's departed
But you're no fool
You're no fool

Moonchild stay wild and try to stay away
From the bright light and stay right here
I'm caught in the middle of fear
