Middle-aged do the low rise on the waist
London halflife
Middle-aged, you're the low riser
Getting over myself today

And if you're compromised
Drive your car through the rain
And if you've been beaten
Drive your car through the rain

Until you wash off the buzz
Don't pull over 'till you're sure

One that wanted the floor
One that won't know the street
One that wanted to land
On the heart with his feet up

Oh, watch out, you're only better off
With half your life
Otherwise wasted house of cards
You fall hard
