A thought erupts calling me and it's daring
To relive those days when I think you're gone
Miss your smile, I miss your eyes,
And now I'm out of time
What would it take to look at me like you used to?
Oh, Cuz you don't anymore, and we're not anymore
Then this

The clock strikes two and I'm looking for you
Where could you have gone this time?
I'm staring at the phone so alone
With hearts beating all on their own
It's so cold here,
Did you shut the door when you left?
It's mid-winter and it feels like I'm taking my last breath.

A photobook's calling me and it's daring
To let go of that girl I wish I still knew
I missed her eyes, I missed her smile
But now I'm out time, to whisper that I loved her

I think I think I'll always love her, love her
I think I think I'll always love you, love you
I think I think I'll always love her
I know I'll always love you

The clock strikes two and I'm looking for you
Where could you have gone this time?
I'm staring at the phone so alone
With hearts beating all on their own
It's so cold here,
Did you shut the door when you left?
It's mid-winter and it feels...
Like I'm taking my last breath.

The clock strikes three
It's too late for me
Well, it hurts so bad this time
Staring at the phone all I know
Is that she's what I hold

The clock strikes four
I can't take anymore
It feels so real this time
Staring at the phone all it brings
Are tears but then it didn't ring

It's so cold here,
Did you shut the door when you left?
It's mid-winter and it feels...
Like I'm taking my last breath.

I think I think I'll always love you, love you
I think I think I'll always love you, love you
I think I'll always love you
I know I'll always love you
I know I'll always love you

And when you say "hello"
It brings me back to all I know
I'm sorry love, I'm coming home

And when I hear you breathe
It brings me back to what I need
To you your heart is home to me

And when you say "hello"
It brings me back to all I know
I'm sorry love, I'm coming home

And when I hear you breathe
It brings me back to what I need
To you your heart is home to me

I know, I know I'll always love you, love you
I know I'll always love you [2x]
