So drop this composure
As the director yells cut
People taking their places
Spending their hearts
Enforcing us
To make believe
That the true magic lies in the eyes of actor acompaning actress
The ability to bring us into life
But then it might be a little moree

Promise me that you wont stop when the camera does
I swear I can make better the actress in hollywood
So if you promise me that you wont stop Then I promise I'll write a scene where we can shine in the spotlight forever

You write our script in your best handwriting
Then everyone would die to act it out.
Under the stars that we made stagelights
So many times before
Let them read and let them scream their heart out to it

But we both know that anyone can act
Yet noone can stop a thing like this Chorus

Promise me that you wont stop cuz I promise you that I wont stop
Promise me that you wont stop when the camera's does when the camera does
