The band was comin' home,
And we were puttin' on a show.
There was a fine lookin' lady,
Dancin' in the front row.
There's nothin' like a home town crowd,
To get you all fired up.
Well she brought me some rye,
With a twinkle in her eye.
I started seein' her almost every single night,
There's nothin' like a brand new love,
To keep you warm inside.
But there was something goin' on,
That just struck me wrong.
A man answered when I called her home,
She told me she'd been single for months,
So I never would have guessed...

She's still livin' with her ex,
I doubt that he's over her yet,
Ya, I imagine she's still quite upset,
Love's not easy to forget.
She's still livin' with her ex,
My timing could be less perfect,
I'm sure glad they invented text,
She's still livin' with her ex.

Well she tells me she's movin' out come spring,
Once they've sold the truck and divvied up their things.
There's no time like the present, for true romance.
And when I take her out to dance I dress sharp.
I play it cool and I guard my heart,
I think I might be fallin' in love,
But I know she's not ready yet.

She's still livin' with her ex,
I doubt that he's over her yet,
Ya, I imagine she's still quite upset,
Love's not easy to forget.
She's still livin' with her ex,
My timing could be less perfect,
I'm sure glad they invented text,

She's still livin' with her ex.

Well last night she said the words "I love you",
And I heard myself sayin' "I love you too",
There's nothing like that moment to lonely hearts.
So I try to keep up to my little Dixie cup,
So she's got a man who owns half her truck,
So she's got a roommate who once was her soulmate,
I'm happy to be on deck.

She's still livin' with her ex,
I doubt that he's over her yet,
Ya, I imagine she's still quite upset,
Loves not easy to forget.
She's still livin' with her ex,
My timing could be more perfect,
I'm sure glad they invented text,
She's still livin' with her ex.

Sure hope they're not havin sex,
She's still livin' with her ex...
