Save my skin
i need a medic-
hold me down, i'm only sewn down save my teeth
show me you meant it-catch my death
I'm only sewn together-

My eyelids are heavy and the night's wearing on your story's familiar and your innocence is gone we'd burn like the morning then break like your heart fall in love without warning just to fall back apart all fevered and blistered with nothing at stake i feel the warmth of her whisper and the cold of my mistakes her soul in balance my heart in her hand i made her a widow
she made me a man
