Open The Window

Open the window & let in the mornin' light
I stand here alone & think of the lonely night
I remember the fight that we had
Why did I treat you so bad?
I feel so empty now without you

I looked at the sky & noticed a shade of blue
Makes me think of your eyes & wish I was holding you
When I think of the plans that we made
& all the dues that we paid
Life is so empty now without you

Bridge:

I go to the phone & I dial your number again
But it rings & it rings till it drops from my tremblin'
hand
I put it back on the stand &
Look at your picture again

Open the window & let in the mornin' light
I stand here alone & think of the lonely night
When will I see you again?
Have I lost my only friend?
Life is so empty now without you
Life is so empty now without you

(instrumental)
(repeat bridge)
(repeat verse 3)
