Verse 1

Salty skin on my body
Sweated pores like rain
I can feel the attack
But I'm known to pain
The cold is creeping in and it chills my veins
I've got one more minute, twenty four hours to go

Verse 2

No redemption in my heart
No illusions owned for start
What I did I cant take back
There's no use in wishing that
The bell is ringing now and the clock counts down
I got one more minute, twenty four hours to go
Chorus

Angels wont help me now
This fate is all mine
Darkness is fading out and so is my time

Verse 3

Hear the footsteps at my door
I don't struggle anymore
As i take my final breath
I don't feel what lies ahead
Im leaving to a place
Where ill see your face
I had one more minute, twenty four hours ago

One more minute, twenty four hours ago
