Rosanna, Rosanna
You walk into the room and I'm a helpless soul
I'm fumbling and I lose control

Rosanna, Rosanna
You scare me girl you tear me down
Like stagehands break a plays last stand

I sing these words with diffidence
And know they make no difference
To you who lives in confidence
But if they should by some great chance
I love you

And I feel like I'm going down
In a universe of silent sound and intense light
And the light's too bright and the silence deafens me
When I call your name
And I call your name

Rosanna, Rosanna, Rosanna

You feel me so completely so
My life begins each time with you
But you can't see me, can you

Oh but I feel like I'm going down
In a universe of silent sound and intense light
And the light's too bright and the silence deafens me
When I call your name

Rosanna, Rosanna, Rosanna

It's a solitary passion play
That ends everytime when you walk away
Rosanna, I love you
