Room to Dream
Say hello to the rest of your life
It's all the same every night, you realize
So you say goodbye to your life
But I wish you knew the dreams that were still inside of you
Cause they still know you

You try to fly so high
On wings broken in disguise
But there's still room for you to dream

Feeling down you try to say
Everything that makes you want to run away
I feel your pain when you look amazed
That all you know is all you'll ever be It's sad to see

You cry your eyes to sleep
But if you'd wake you'd see
That there's still room for you to dream

Yeah, there's still room for you to dream
There's still room for you to dream
There's still room, yeah there's room
There's always room for you to dream
