I'd love to shout my feelings from a mountain high
To tell the world I love her and I will till I die But we're livin' in a world that don't know love is colorblind
And that's why Irma Jackson can't be mine
I remember no one cared about us being friends
We were only children and it really didn't matter then
But we grew up too quickly in a world that draws a line
That tells me Irma Jackson can't be mine
If lovin' Irma Jackson is a sin then I don't understand this crazy world we're livin' in There's a mighty wall between us standing high but I'll love Irma Jackson till I die [dobro]
She tells me she's decided that she'll go away
I guess it's right that she alone should have the final say
But in spite of her decision forcin' us to say goodbye
I'll still love Irma Jackson till I die
Yes lovin' Irma Jackson is a sin...
I'll love Irma Jackson till I die
