She still makes my coffee in my favorite cup
And serves it with kisses when she wakes me up
I still send her roses and I called her my own
Our house is still a home but love is gone
I take her to parties and we dine out with friends
Our smiles still fool them they can't see the end
I play with my children like nothing is wrong
Our house is still a home but love is gone
Love love sweet love is gone we're still together but together alone
She still calls me darling and I play along our house is still a home but love is gone
Love love sweet love is gone...
