Looking for a window into your soul
If and when I find it, will the blinds be closed?

I drag me up the drainpipe
Leap for the fire ladder
Seventeen stories
And I'm still climbing higher

Looking for a window into your soul
If and when I find it, will the blinds be closed?

I went to Samy's Camera
To buy binoculars
Took home a tall telescope
Ten thousand times power

Looking for a window into your soul
If and when I find it, will the blinds be closed?

I set up on a rooftop
Just across the way
In the summer, sweat poured
In the winter, it was rain

Looking for a window into your soul.
If and when I find it, will the blinds be closed?

Looking for a window into your heart
If and when I find it, will the insides be dark?
Looking for a window into your mind
If and when I find it, will we both be tongue-tied?
