Well you're so divine with lips like wine,
It's easy to see how you got me so addicted.
With lips like wine it's easy to see.

You're squeezing tighter I'm turning blue.
I can't breathe and you could care less.
You're squeezing tighter I'm turning blue.
I can't breathe and you could care less.

There's got to be a light at the end of this.
It's so dark when you're alone.
I'm making my way to end this misery.

This is something that I've never felt before.
Outside less but inside more.

Close your eyes you feel it now.

And I think it's time to make you fall in love for the last time.
And I think it's time to break your heart.
And I think it's time to make you fall in love for the last time.
And I think it's time to break your heart.

How can you save me if you can't save yourself?
