I could pretend that I forgot
It would be nice, but I'm not
If I knew then, what I know now
I would have left, if I knew how
But you give and you get
It's the cause and effect
You're good to go so you no longer have to beak a sweat

Everything that goes up must come down
It's a little late to be sorry, don't worry
Now you know what comes around goes around
You have to find it sooner or later
I'll tell you straight up, I'll see you later, later, later

Said I've heard it all before
Now your lies, don't work no more
Now it's my turn to explain
I can't wait, to set you straight

Those excuses again
They're all used up my friend
'Cause I know all about your wheres and when

Everything that goes up must come down
It's a little late to be sorry, don't worry
Now you know what comes around goes around
You have to find it sooner or later
I'll tell you straight up, I'll see you later, later, later

Does it matter, what you say or do
All that matters, it's too late for you
It's time you realize we're though

Everything that goes up must come down

Everything that goes up must come down
It's a little late to be sorry, don't worry
Now you know what comes around goes around
You have to find it sooner or later
I'll tell you straight up, I'll see you later, later, later
