Don't even know what you've been doing to me
I'm seeing colours that nobody has seen
I'm falling over myself just to be at your window
I'm painting pictures of your beautiful face
I'm dropping everything to be by where you say-hey
Holding you closer to me couldn't be any better

I wanna feel this every day
I gonna live to hear you say
That you wanna stay this way forever and ever and always

Steady as a clock, tick tock
This hearts not stopping
For the next 40 years
If the world keeps turning
We'll keep burning
For another 40 years.

You think you're hiding how I'm making you feel
And you've been acting like you're made out of steel But you're as obvious as snow-covered hills in the morning
You make me smile, when you're saying my name
It feels like heaven, won't you say it again
I think I'm ride for the greatest ride, of a lifetime.

I wanna feel this every day
I gonna live to hear you say
always

Steady as a clock, tick tock
This hearts not stopping
For the next forty years
If the world keeps turning
We'll keep burning
For another forty.

And in ten, ten years - we're gonna fight
But in twenty, twenty years - we'll be alright

After thirty, thirty years, we'll be looking at each other saying
How about another 40 years.

I wanna feel this every day
I gonna live to hear you say
That you wanna stay this way forever and ever and
always

I wanna feel this every day
I gonna live to hear you say
That you wanna stay this way forever and ever and
always

Steady as a clock, tick tock
this hearts not stopping
For the next forty years
If the world keeps turning
We'll keep burning
For another forty years.

Steady as a clock, tick tock
this hearts not stopping
For the next forty years
If the world keeps turning
We'll keep burning
For another forty years.
