Another blue collar town slowly shuttin down night work no longer around no longer the sound a shift change , its a strange kind of quiet , gas on the rise and you cant afford to buy it the government is giving out free shots so try it me? no thanks , free than government dont buy it its a cold city , streets are getting gritty , always cops in the vicinity looking for that evil trinity , dope , guns and gangs , your hope runs short cause the headline keeps reading another left for dead on the streets out bleeding shootout on the highway poppin while they speeding aint breakin down on lust,aint breakin down on passion living life to the fullest thats the latest fashion really now to yourself thats the question does it really matter if your mind is your weapon ?

chorus :

i've been through this all before they can beat us and mistreat us doesnt really matter
cause they never will defeat us doesnt really matter tryna break our love for that passion*doesnt really
but what we fighting for is breakin down that door

keep fighting for your work to survive in these tough ass times unemployment on the rise at an alltime high landmark companies come crumbling down now your little baby belly always grumbling now got your wife on your back cause you got no pay sunny days always gray and they never go away the CEO of your company he living comforatbly still got his bonus check for a couple hundred g's why you nothing but a number in the ei line behind the counter acting like"your no concern of mine" now your thinking all the time about some crime and how the ends justify the means so it doesnt really matter long as your baby getting fatter you feel alot better aint so cold if you got that warm sweater so what you waiting for the answer to that knock or you breaking down that door

we gotta let them know we've had enough we're not gunna take this no more we need everybody to get together stand up stand up
gather round
stand up stand up
keep fighting for that right to survive let them know

chorus x 2
