Switch on and off
This needle's wearing thin
And about to drop on you

Spinning round and round
Making all that lovely sound
This is you, and you tune

You and your tune

Because everyone has got their little tune
It's a thing that separates me from you

Turn those beats up full
I want to see that melody just melt my body

Turn that bass up loud
I want to get this party started with your sound.

Everyone is singing other people's songs
They know the words
But they just can't sing it like the singer does

Everyone is singin'-singin'-singing other people's songs
The joke's on them
Because they just can't sing it like the singer does.
