This is a story about
A woman, love and a man
These three things
Always work out so grand

Boy meets a girl
And he falls deep in love
And then his future's bright
As the sunshine up above

Now ain't that right
(Ain't that right)
Ain't that right
(Ain't that right)
Talk to me, children
(Ain't that right)

Now, a man sees a woman
And his heart begins to pound
He becomes so light
He just goes up off the ground

He kisses her once and then
He's got to kiss her twice
Because he feels in his heart
That romace is, oh, so mighty nice

Now ain't that right
(Ain't that right)
Ain't that right
(Ain't that right)

Talk to me, children
(Ain't that right)
Talk to me, children
(Ain't that right)

I've got a girl
Who really knows the score
The way she hugs and kisses
Makes me love her so much more

She's so tender
When I need company
That's why I tell all you people
What love has done for me

This is a story about
A woman, love and a man
These three things
Always work out so grand

I got a girl named Lucy
Whose lips are, oh, so juicy
I kissed her once and did it again
Now I got so much loving within

Now ain't that right
(Ain't that right)
Ain't that right
(Ain't that right)

Talk to me, children
(Ain't that right)
Talk to me, children
(Ain't that right)

Yeah, yeah, yeah
Yeah, yeah, yeah
Yeah, yeah, yeah...

Talk to me, baby
Talk to me, children
All you children, talk to me
Cause I, I wanna hear
What you gotta say
