

Tony Martin

"Balance Of Power"

Visit "Balance Of Power" on MotoLyrics.com

Well stop, look, listen to the sound; do you think it's something good,
And if you listen very hard, you will even catch the mood,

And if you try to run, it will only track you down,
And there's only one, only one more chance to seek it
out,

There's something different I can feel it coming back,
The balance of power is changing,
Something's different about the people in the crowd,
The balance of power is changing.
Oh yes!

Well think back to the days of light,
The darkness seemed to be so black,
And dreamers, held us in their dreams,
And led us down an empty track.

If you're on your own, they will only bring you down,
And if you die alone, surely no one hears you cry.

There's something different I can feel it coming back,
The balance of power is changing,
Something's different about the people in the crowd,
The balance of power is changing, oh.

And If you try to run, it will only track you down,
And there's only one, only one more chance to seek it
out,

There's something different I can feel it coming back,
The balance of power is changing,
Something's different about the people in the crowd,
The balance of power is changing.
Oh it's changing, can't you see the signs, it's coming back,
It's coming back yeah run, yeah, don't look back the balance of power.

