

Tony Martin

"Surely Love Is Dead"

Visit "Surely Love Is Dead" on MotoLyrics.com

Remember that feeling as you walk through the door
And you wonder what's out on the other side
There's no way back, once you've left me for sure
There'll be someone else taking your place tonight

Remember this look that you see in my eyes
I'll make sure I forget you and I won't forgive
There's times that I thought I could stand all the lies
But I soon realised there's much more than this to find

I wasted so much time, now it's at an end
Surely love is dead

Reflections of you, they still drift through my mind
But I will find a way to burn them out
It took too much time to find out you're not my kind
And I soon realised there's much more than this to find

I wasted so much time, now it's at an end
Surely love is dead
Surely love is dead
Surely love is dead

Love's forever lost, your heart is cold and love is dead
Love's forever lost, your heart is cold and love is dead

Visit Tony Martin page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.