Late one night at the cafe
I think I had a greyhound that night
Looking for my lover in the darkness
She said she would meet me there
So she says why she was late
Says she couldn't get her hair done
Well, you know how that is Constantly tapping on the table
Giving me every indication something's wrong

Hey blue I know you well
I can tell by the way you carry yourself
Hey blue across the room
I can see you, when you're with him I'm with you

She wears her lips dark, that's what I like
But it doesn't make things right (not tonight)
As she dwells out the outdoor at the left
I followed her, oh you don't know what I felt
At the moment that I reached the sidewalk
I see this car, there she sits there
And she doesn't even know me anymore
So I confront her with a smile and a wave away
Now blue, you know better

Hey blue I know you well
I can tell by the way you carry yourself
Hey blue across the room
I can see you, when you're with him I'm with you

Hey blue I know you well
Cause when I know you, I know you and blue knows
Hey blue across the room
Cause I'm inside of you, I watch your every move

(I know you so well, the way you smile)

I can tell when somethin's on your mind
It sorta shows in your eyes
The way you move your thighs
Hey blue across the room
I can see you, when you're with him I'm with you
