Hey! [x4]

I'm so tired of my voice just bouncing off of you
We've been walking in this place for what seems like forever

Would you notice if I faked it?

Go ahead and give the word, 'cause I've given more than mine share.

And I'm sorry for all the things that I've done to us. (I've more than given up)

I keep on giving

Everything is different.

You, you don't know me anymore

You waived your right to understand

For no reason

My offer still stands

But I'm guessing you're in no position

To be happy

I can see it in your eyes

I'm not the same to you

We both made the same mistakes

Or do you not remember cocaine children?

I guess it's different.

I went ahead and gave the word

And I never asked for yours

And I'm sorry, but not for the reason you want me to be.

(Lower your eyes and speak up)

We're both in this together, but only I want out.

You, you don't know me anymore

You waived your right to understand

For no reason

My offer still stands

But I'm guessing you're in no position

To be happy

Sixteen months, I'm looking back and laughing.

Well, I've earned the right

To say to you, from the top of my lungs:

Get over it!

[Repeat]

You, you don't know me anymore
You waived your right to understand
For no reason
We're not in high school anymore.
I'm waiting for your reason, for your reason.

You, you don't know me anymore
You waived your right to understand
For no reason
My offer still stands
But I'm guessing you're in no position
To be happy
