

Tori Amos

"Dogs"

Visit "Dogs" on MotoLyrics.com

one dog buries a bone and then the other dog digs it up and finds a prize in store one dog dies and the other dogs go dig him up a tomb with his name inscribed and there on his tombstone carved so bold the words are clear and strong

it says:

this one is for the eyes
for the eyes of the other dogs who come it's for the eyes of the other dogs to come one man digs a hole while another man shovels dirt inside another hole one man says hello while another one is leaving on a long journey to a place he'll return

and there on his tombstone carved so bold
the words are clear and strong
it says:

this one is for the eyes
for the eyes of the other dogs who come
it's for the eyes of the other dogs to come

every entrance has an exit and every doorknob has a twist i wonder what my face looked like before it looked like this?

and there on his tombstone carved so bold
the words are clear and strong
it says:

this one is for the eyes
for the eyes of the other dogs who come
it's for the eyes of the other dogs to come

