he'll be home soon it's too late for practicing we never had to before but if it's still there, it's there and if it's not, it's not and i can't believe those old feelings won't be there wanting me

we had both been waiting so long, dreams fading is there hope for us i have even tried to plan our first embrace
and if it's not, what then can you shake my hand and say "good luck my friend" i don't need a friend when i whisper something soft you'll be a thousand miles from here
