Ho, ho, ho my little children
Why don't you come inside?
I'd like to take you to a place
Beyond the mystified
Well imagine no more mom or dad
A life of candy canes
Upon the winter wonderland
Across the icy plains

Santa's here, and yes my friends
This is where the nightmare ends
It's time to open up all of the presents once again
It's a fairy tale at lightning speed
No place for you to hide

Twas the night before my journey
With the children on my knee
To the twilight star of Bethlehem
As far as you can see
Well now if you've been a good child
Then climb onto my sleigh
I'll soon be dashing through the snow
To take you all away

Santa's here, and yes my friends
This is where the nightmare ends
It's time to open up all of the presents once again
It's a fairy tale at lightning speed
No place for you to hide

So look into my eyes
And I'll show you what is real
I can see into the regions of your mind
The fog slowly passes awaiting my arrival
The black wind blows cold in the distance
Those holy bells are chiming
Watch my eyes glow

Now it's a very, very silent night
My legions far behind
Concluding one more chapter
To the story in my mind

Well my children have been tucked away
To stay with me up here
Til I find the ones I've overlooked
And bring them back next year

Santa's here, and yes my friends
This is where the nightmare ends
It's time to open up all of the presents once again
It's a fairy tale at lightning speed
No place for you to hide
From my slay ride
