Strange, there's a fundamental change
Love is now within my range
Like it's never been before
And I can hardly wait for someone
To share my days, my nights and more

Seems you keep starring in my dreams
With their new recurring themes
Maybe one might just come true
I hear that life is great in that blissful state
I can hardly wait to find me there with you

It's not as if I never had the chance at all
It's not as if I didn't really try
I guess my heart just never learned to dance at all
It might have been my timing

So, I may need some time to grow
More accustomed to the glow
That you've introduced me to
I knew the stage was set on the day we met
I just can't wait to let me fall in love with you
