King without a crown
You see the longer road, they only see the dollar Now the time is running out but there's still time to make you bleed Yourself dry
Until you're worth nothing

Use your virtues right
No one will ever be unbeatable at everything Choose your natural side and all you touch will turn to gold tonight

Another scene, another take And you still feel like you're not punching above your weight when You say that you're capable of making it
And they force you to make those awful movies Like no one really gives a shit what you are doing on the set
It's just your hips and upper lip on the big screen

Use your virtues right
No one will ever be unbeatable at everything Choose your natural side and all you touch will turn to gold
And use your virtues right
No one will ever be unbeatable at everything
Choose your natural side and all you touch will turn to
gold tonight

But if you wait you'll never get free from being the bait And then you look at the world and you'll be just one of them all
And now you got your back against the wall
Your kingdom will fall

And use your virtues right
No one will ever be unbeatable at everything Choose your natural side and all you touch will turn to
gold
And use your virtues right No one will ever be unbeatable at everything

Choose your natural side and all you touch will turn to
gold

And use your virtues right
No one will ever be unbeatable at everything Choose your natural side and all you touch will turn to
gold

And use your virtues right No one will ever be
unbeatable at everything
Choose your natural side and all you touch will turn to
gold tonight
