Tell me mister i'm just wondering
How you find a way to abandon my friend
I don't know if you're thinking That he looks too wierd to you sit him in the back of the room
He's going down now
Her life's been ripped and she's struggling You say you can't relate, and her life passes you by She's crying out and you're thinking Green hair, tongue pierced, tattoos is way too much for you
She's going down now
Does the ink that's on my skin, make it hard to let me in?
It's time to act my friend look on the inside They're dying inside don't run away they're dying inside
They're going down now
