Can you see that all of the houses are burning
While our backs were turned away.
Inside the fire we'll be
Consumed by it all.
Nothing but ash remains.
Eyes scorched, reflecting flames,
We will not go down without a fight.
Eyes scorched, reflecting flames,
We will not go down without a fight.
But if we make it through the night
Would you forget this moment even took place?
And if we lose it all tonight
I Promise you I wont forget your face.
I won't forget you, no
I wont forget your face.
We will not go down without a fight
Eyes scorched, reflecting flames,
No we will not burn down, no not this time.
Smoke filled sun rays are all I can see.
Sirens sing my name in background like a choir.
They're singing.
We'll have to lose it all to know what's really ours
So many days, we take for granted
So many nights inside ours rooms
Were just wasting time.
We'll have to lose it all to know what's really ours.
