I'm getting good at saying goodbye,
But I've always been better at believing
That you're better off

{Chorus}
Wherever you go,
Go with all your heart
Worn out, and broken in
Like hand-me downs
And every memory
Is like a skipping stone
You'll never understand
How long it took the tides
To bring them back to us

I'm getting good at saying goodbye,

{Chorus}

And we grow into those sadder songs
And leave out love behind,
In every single line.

Maybe that's the only place it can really live
But you could never understand (you don't care x2)
You would never understand (you don't care x2)

Wherever you go(x3)
Every memory,
Is like a skipping stone
You'll never understand
How long it took the tides
To bring them back to us.

And we grow into those sadder songs
And leave out love behind,
In every single line.

I'm getting good at saying goodbye.
