Baby do you remember the good times?
I hope they come to mind when you think of me
Instead of all the arguments and fights
No matter how I try those are all I see

Does he kiss you as softly as I do?
Does he hold you in his arms til you fall asleep?
Do you drive him insane with your constant complaining
Even though he treats you just like a queen?

From the top of my lungs
To the bottom of my heart
This song is for every disappointment
This is for everything that went wrong
From the top of my lungs
To the bottom of my heart

Baby were there ever any good times?
Will you remind me what it's like to be happy?
But then again I suppose it's hard to really know how being happy goes when you're miserable (oh)

Does he kiss you softly as I do?
Does he hold you in his arms til you fall asleep
Do you drive him insane with your constant
complaining
I hope he does to you what you did to me

From the top of my lungs
To the bottom of my heart
This song is for every disappointment
This is for everything that went wrong
From the top of my lungs
To the bottom of my heart

x2 This is for everything

It goes from initial reaction to mutual attraction
Mental infatuation to physical addiction
Social suffocation, total disintegration

A fucking failed relationship it's really just a simple equation
It's really just a simple equation
Does he kiss you as softly as I do?
Does he hold you in his arms til you fall asleep?
Do you drive him insane with your constant
complaining
Even though he treats you just like a queen?

From the top of my lungs
To the bottom of my heart
This song is for every disappointment

From the top of my lungs
to the bottom of my heart
This song is for every broken promise
Now I'll be moving right along
From the top of my lungs
To the bottom of my heart

This is for everything
